Fire.

At noon on Tuesday, the people of Logan were aroused from their steaming dinners, to answer to the alarm of fire. It proved to be at the residence of Mr. Isaac McFadden on East Front St. The building had caught from some clothes that were hanging by the fire, and the occupants of the house being absent at the time, almost the entire building was in a flame within before it was noticed. Much of the furniture, however, was saved by those that arrived there first, but the whole house was soon consumed. The efforts of the fire department were turned upon the surrounding houses and all were saved, with but slight damage. No insurance on the property destroyed.

A PLEASANT BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

On last Saturday, Grandma Butin was 89 years old. Her daughters, Misses Martha and Ann Webb with whom she lives, contrived a birthday surprise party. Mother Butin was gotten away to a neighbor's conspirators, until a company of half a hundred and more had assembled.

When the old lady was brought in the presence of the friends crowding around and speaking kind words, she gave up and big tears ran down her furrowed cheeks; an expression of appreciation that words could not express.

An appropriate hymn was sung. Father Williams offered an earnest and affecting prayer. Then dinner. The table did not "groan" as is its accustomed style, but it laughed as do the fields and gardens in the bounty possessed, and the guests were equally glad. The substantial were enough for a company of veterans, and the delicacies and relishes in quality to suit the Queen's and every one's tastes.

The only ones not happy were the preachers. There were five of us; Williams, Moore, Turner, Powell and the SENTINEL, and there was no chicken.

But no more elegant and superior dinner has ever been spread to a Logan company. Mother Butin received many elegant and appropriate presents for which with tear bedewed cheeks, and faltering voice she made the eloquent speech—"Thanks."

The occasion is one long to be remembered. A good woman rounding out a good life, in her declining glory has gathered around her friends who love her and gave testimony of a friendship and heart feeling that money cannot buy.

With her many friends the SENTINEL joins in congratulations and offers the wish that her life may be long continued, that her recurring birthdays may all be as happy as the one just passed and that in all her days and years she live her life will be blessed and brightened by all the favors that good Father Time may bear in his train.
